THE MATRIX OF LETTERSHIP

SEND LETTERS TO
TRANSFORMERS@SKYBOUND.COM

Welcome back to the next installment of the MATRIX OF LETTERSHIP, I'm your editor and co-host, Ben Abernathy. As always, I'm joined by the amazing Daniel Warren Johnson!

Hey all! How about this amazing work by JASON??? Holy cow. Dude, thank you so much for killing it so hard. Jason made these two issues sing, and helped start us on a new journey for my favorite bad guy, Starscream! A round of applause, please! I'm sitting on my back porch right now, ready to read some letters, so let's get to 'em!

Hi! Okay, I gotta be honest, this new line has sent a whirlwind of emotions through me (currently waiting for issue #13 to be released). First, I see Bumblebee's practically mangled body on THE FIRST ISSUE, then, Ratchet dies, saving Cliffjumper, who both he and Jazz get captured and tortured by Shockwave and I just...Gosh. It's a lot, however, it's kind of what you're signing up for when you decide to take a nice dip into the pool of whatever canon has become of the Transformers franchise now. But I am all here for it!

IDW really wasn't my taste, so I was super hyped for this from the start, even though I may have been a little bit late to the party. Being fashionably late isn't just a choice, it's a lifestyle. I prefer it that way. Just means I have more to consume. From your writing, to the art, to the text, to the inking, it's literally perfect. I love the style and I hope you know you have officially made two amazing human characters that I actually really enjoy! And to be honest, that's kind of a hard hassle, everybody who's a fan of Transformers always complains about humans being a waste of space. But you guys have spot on nailed it, for me at least.

Okay, I have ONE question. Whichhh--is more like a plea.

Please please please will Ratchet ever come back, I was tear-stricken. He's such a war-grandpa and I don't think I can function without his dry humor and his heavy sarcasm.

Overall, I enjoy this line so much, and I look forward to every month for every new issue.

Keep up the spectacular work!

Best regards,
Isabel the giant nerd

Hey Isabel! In regards to Ratchet, I will say "never say never". I love that guy, and I want to write him more. So, we shall see! I'm glad you're enjoying this series. I am too! It's so fun to write and it feels good to hear that it's also fun to read.

Hi DWJ and crew!

Hello!

Let me just say this: you are absolutely awesome and doing a great job with this series. I've been hooked since issue five and have been enjoying every step of this remarkable journey. I've been a fan since I was four (thanks to my brother) and I have a feeling that if Optimus and Elita cross paths again, she's probably going to kill him. I personally thought that when Cybertron went back to its proper spot in the universe, there was going to be a massive energon wave that was most likely resurrected and take over the Decepticons with force. But since you are still preparing for the "grandest of entrances", I am still waiting for the Decep's main man. This is the best comic series I have ever read, not trying to be bias here because this is only comic series I have ever paid attention to.

Keep up the good work,
Marilyn from Alamo, California

Wow, thank you for the kind words, Marilyn! There were a LOT of ways the end of arc 2 could have gone, which made it super hard to write, if I'm being honest. But that's one of the best things about writing TRANSFORMERS: There is SO MUCH there to work with. It feels like the universe is only just expanding, with so many avenues for captivating stories. I'm glad you're here to share these moments with us!

To the artists, writers and everything in-between at Skybound--

I have enjoyed Transformers since I was just a few years old. One of my first memories is playing Fall of Cybertron on the PS3--which still stands as my favorite game of all time. Your TRANSFORMERS series so far has been nothing short of incredible--it works even without some characters I'd previously consider to be quintessential to storylines (sorry Bee!) and manages to tell a gripping tale like nothing I've seen from previous iterations of the bots. Your understanding of the characters floors me, and I've thoroughly enjoyed the spins on established characters such as Arcee (especially), Beachcomber (who I hadn't even heard of until picking up the comic!) and even Thundercracker--poor guy. I plan to read through VOID RIVALS as well, whenever I have downtime. If it's not too much trouble (or ink), I'd like to throw in some questions;

I love questions! Let's go!

Who's your favorite Autobot? And Decepticon!

Optimus Prime and Starscream! Ha! (Second fave Autobot is Bluestreak or Grimlock, they're tied, and Bruticus for the Decepticons.)

I have to hop in here and give Jazz a shoutout--always my absolute favorite!

2. Elita and Arcee's dynamic is particularly interesting to me. Will we see any further elaboration on what's happened between them over the course of the war?

We shall see! If I have room, yes, but right now we are focusing on the current day situations we find our characters in. I'd love to travel to the past though!

3. Any random fun facts that pop into your head for any characters? I was very surprised by the notes on Mass Conversion at the end of #9, and I'd like to see more fun trivia such as that.

I don't have nearly as much of an archive of knowledge about the fandom and characters, so I'll put it out to the people reading right now! You have any fun trivia? Please share!

Me Grimlock King,
Gavin Adams

AND a fan of Grimlock? My kinda guy.

Hi Matrix of Lettership,

I must say, it's nice to be wrong.

When it was announced that Skybound would be doing a new Transformers comic, largely based on the G1 cartoon (memories of seeing new episodes on a Saturday morning on Sky One are flooding back), I was initially skeptical. Previous efforts to replicate the cartoon in comic form tended to be average at best and plain awful at worst, plus the fact that it would be part of a shared universe with G.I. Joe didn't sound promising. However, ever since the first issue of Transformers came to my local comic shop, I have been hooked on this take on everyone's favourite Robots in Disguise.

I'm glad I was able to get you to join our merry band! WELCOME!!!

The main reason would have to be the characterisation, especially on Optimus Prime, who hasn't been this good since Peter Cullen voiced him playing basketball all those decades ago. Prime is back to being a noble, kind-hearted hero who can kick all sorts of ass (love the wrestling moves and fusion cannon, inspired), a far cry from the edgier takes in recent years. And it's nice to see bots like Cliffjumper and Beachcomber get the spotlight, while Starscream and Shockwave are perfect villains, the sort you love to hate and relish their brutal comeuppance. Heck, Daniel Warren Johnson even nails the human cast, always a toughie in Transformers stories. Spike, Sparky (R.I.P.) and Carly have all been great, and I can't wait for more from them.

The stories are grim, but not needlessly bleak. The Joe references are kept to a minimum yet are quite intriguing (like what's going on with a certain missing Decepticon leader). And the art from DWJ and Jorge Corona (loved your work on Batgirls, BTW) is out of this world, gritty yet colourful at the same time. I'd have to say that I haven't enjoyed a Transformers book like this since the early days of IDW's More Than Meets The Eye, and that's over ten years ago!

I won't waste your time with questions (though I would like to see Prowl in an upcoming issue, please), so keep up the good work guys!

Joe Kearon (TF fan since the start)
Waterford
Ireland

Joe, thanks so much, man. It means a lot that you're appreciating the tone of the book, as it was important for me to nail that from the very first issue. Like you said, I don't want things to be too bleak. Hopefully everyone can see that there are many rays of sunshine and fun mixed in with the lasers and drama. What a pleasure it is to work on this book!

Thanks for reading everyone--your support and enthusiasm is our Energon! Keep the letters coming and we have a knockout coming next month!

-Ben

Next month, we're back to art by Jorge, and let me tell you, IT'S A DOOZY. Jorge is somehow LEVELING up even more from his work in arc 2. I'm so pumped for you to see it! Please be good to each other in the meantime, and see you in 30!
